PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 5.—The gorgeous double bill at Connic Mack's place, today, attracted 5,96 fanatics, but only 5,8% of them saw the second game The police made a mass momentum play on a fat citizen, and tossed him over the portcuills for making too much fuss in the sun seats. There was nothing to the opening scance but a series of batting rallies that soon placed the locals beyond the reach of want.

The Senators passed through a doleful period in the first spasm of the double header. They falled to jolt Fraser at critical stages, with the results that sixteen of the disgusted politicians got stranded on the bags for want of a time-ly hit or two. Besides this, Lee had his ubles. He remained on the track, but his trolley flew off several times. Fraser turned one electrical display in the third with a three-ply jolt, followed by five singles, that netted five runs.

A few of the old familiar faces are missing, among them Mike Grady and genial Joseph Quinn, the funeral director. Mike and Joe had their feet badly hacked by the spikes of the cruel Orioles, who seemed set on putting the Senators out of business. Owing to their injuries these men are on the hospital list. Winnie Mercer, having returned to camp, was tethered at first, where he performed with great spirit and daring. Farrell now exercises at second base in the absence of the esteemed Quinn.

with great spirit and caring. Farter also exercises at second base in the absence of the esteemed Quinn.

Wittee, long and lank, was the pride of the second encounter. He blocked the Benators off the home plate with two hits, and thereby won the undying esteem of the multitude. Wittee is pretty good, though Phitsburg didn't think so.

Carrick pitched fine ball after the first round, where the locals counted both their runs on three hits and a hit by the pitcher. Three scattered singles, two of which fell to Foultz, were the extent of the subsequent stick work. Both pitchers had good control and kept the batsmen guessing. Twenty-six men perished on files, pop and otherwise. Cross and Cough-lin did great work at third, and Ely's presence at short has enabled the Philadelphias to strike their gait. The scores:

TAIL-ENDERS MEET AGAIN.

The Reds Beat Chiengo in a Poorly

Played Game. CINCINNATI, Aug. 5.—In a game poor-ly played on both sides, the Reds beat Chicago in the first of the second great Chicago in the first of the second great series for the sub-cellar champlonship. The Remnants left the field convinced that Nash's blunder had cost them a game. The only remarkable feature of the contest, aside from the beavy cannonading, was that every one of the Reds runs was made after two hands were out. Beckley made a home run, The score:

BUREAUITES WIN AT DUSK. Government Printing Office Nine Loses by Darkness.

Once again the clongated and ill-fated 'Slivers' Ashley, who does the laborious box work for Uncle Sam's typographical artists, sauntered into the hox to serve up benders to the nine of the Eurenu of Engraving and Printing. Had it not been for a series of costly errors of his team mates he would have succeeded. Notwithstanding the fact that the typewithstanding the fact that the type-setters lost, they were hofly on the trail of their opponents, and it was generally conceded that had the contest lasted ten minutes longer the black ink handlers would have equalized matters with the men who dabble in the green. With the score standing 5 to 4 in favor of the men from southwest and two men had been retired on their side, the game was called by the indicator handler on account of darkness, which was greeted with wild howls of derision by the fans who had waxed enthusiastic over the game.

The certificate makers were the first to wield the stick, and they produced, by their efforts in that line, one trip around the four-bag circuit. The type handlers, the four-bag circuit. The type handlers, who were not to be outdone, were not satisfied with one, so they doubled it and retired to the diamond feeling that they had done a good business for one inning. Both sides had a large goose egg chalked up to their credit in the second, but the greenback makers got one in the third to keep the thing from becoming monotonous. Their opponents had no such luck, but they evend up in the fourth, when one of their tribe rushed into camp with the run that set them one ahead of the board.

but they evened up in the fourth, when one of their tribe rushed into camp with the run that set them one ahead of the board.

In the fifth there were several ludicrous happenings, and incidentally some very wide ball throwing, which resulted disastrously for the printers. This is how it came about. With a Bureaulte on the initial hassock, another came up with the initial hassock, another came and the bounds in order to advance the runner another peg on his journey. He chose as the means to do this to bunt the sphere and fly to the premier sack. Several of the typesetters rushed for the horsehide and the worthy that got his digits upon it threw it wild to first to cut off the runner at that station. But there was nothing doing in that line, for the leather, being on a through trip, did not gtop at such a way station but proceeded to its destination in right field. There it was not captured until the batter had dashed home, preceded very thoughtfully by the other Bureaulte. They added another to their total during the remainder of the iming and retired to the tall grass with two runs to the good.

One-two-three was the order of things in the sixth for both sides. The Fourteenth Street men also falled to score in their half of the seventh, but their rivals, who were linent upon tying the score, moved up one notch. They were now only one to the bad, and they began to play heady ball when they saw darkness was hovering over the grounds. The Southwest contingent moved about very leisurely just at this time, for they saw what was in store for them. Two of the batters who came up found their retirement was almost instantaneous, for the North Capit bott they evened up in the fourth, when one of their tribe rushed into camp with board. CHARGES FALL THROUGH. Two Boys Discharged in Police Court After a Hearing.

Charles Erichton and Linden Daugherty were discharged yesterday after a hearing in the Police Court on charges of unlawful assembly. Several other boys were so arraigned on a similar charge, in luding Earl Baldwin and Ralph Albert, ciuding Earl Baldwin and Raiph Albert, both of whom, with Krichton and Daugherty, were arrested Saturday night by the Ninth precinct police near Sixth and East Capitol Streets. The police are searching for another bey, who is suspected of robbing Nancy Goloway, colored, of several ear tickets.

At the trial it was shown that neither Krichton for Daugherty was unruly in any way, and they were readily released, after a brief hearing. Sergeant Cramer and Policeman o Donnell, of the Ninth precinct station, are still making an investigation of the robbery reported by the Goloway woman. She stated that she was attacked by a number of youths Saturday night, and that one of them tried to grab her necketbook. He was not successful, but did succeed in taking from her a number of street car tickets. He then escaped, Several of the boys are still great way colladeral, while others were lodged at the House of Detention until trial yesterday.

While only two events were carded yesterday at the Brightwood Driving Track, both afforded as much excitement and as good a day's racing as has been seen at the track this season. A light rain, which fell in the forenoon, laid the dust nicely, and track records might have been broken had the starters been of the rec ord-breaking class. As it was, in the 2:25 trot or pace; the time made was ahead of the classification by five seconds in one of the hears, and considerably ahead in all of the others.

them attempted to push Nevitt out of the way. The bluecoat then drew his revolver and a majority of the negroes beat a hasty retreat.

Williams, alias Delaney, was taken in the patroi wagon to the Second precinct station, where he was charged with having assaulted Bessie Smith and acting in a disorderly manner. The police refused to accept any collateral for him and he will be given a hearing before Judge Mills this morning.

The Smith woman's face was much cut up, but she refused to go to a hospital for treatment. The lower floor of the house was badly burned by the lamp, and for a time it was thought an alarm of fire would have to be turned in.
